

Actually being able to view and inspect your data is extremely important. This is a big step in making data more accessible and actionable for everyone.